

André Flahaut

André Flahaut (1955) is a Belgian statesman, Minister of State, and federal Deputy. With a rich political career, he has held various ministerial positions, including Minister of Defense and President of the Chamber of Representatives. He is recognized for his commitment to European integration, citizenship, and solidarity partnerships. Concerned with shared development, democracy, and human rights, he advocates for strengthened connections between Europe, the Mediterranean, and Africa. His political vision is based on dialogue and proximity to citizens.