

Emilienne Evangeline Biboum is an experienced business leader with a 20-year career in management and commerce across West and Central Africa. She has led significant changes in the consulting, logistics, banking, telecommunications, and fintech sectors. Currently the Director of Human Resources at MTN Cameroon, she is responsible for HR strategy and cultural transformation. She holds an advanced executive leadership program from Duke University and various professional certifications. She has also worked with Deutsche Post DHL and in international consulting. Her achievements include several professional awards and a deep commitment to talent empowerment and humanized AI.