Jacques Bonjawo is a Cameroonian software engineer, entrepreneur and author, recognized for his contributions in the field of ICT, particularly in Africa, India and the USA. He is currently founding president of the African Association for Ethical Artificial Intelligence, an initiative to promote the responsible use of AI on the African continent. Most of his career has been spent at Microsoft headquarters, where he has held key positions and participated in several major projects. Alongside his work in the technology sector, Jacques Bonjawo is the author of several books and is actively involved in initiatives to improve access to education and technology in Africa.