

Didier Acouetey is the Head of AfricSearch Group, a firm specializing in human resources management in Africa. The firm operates with offices in Africa and is associated with Alexander Hughes, having a global presence. Active in African development, he co-founded the first Africa-Southeast Asia Chamber of Commerce in Singapore and launched the Africa SME Champions Forum with major partners to finance African SMEs. He is a columnist at Radio France International on training themes, employment, and business creation in Africa. Didier Acouetey holds an MBA from the École Supérieure de Commerce de Paris and has followed advanced management cycles in several international universities.