

Patrick Muyaya Katembwe is a Congolese politician, national deputy since 2011 and Minister of Communication and Media since 2021. A journalism graduate from IFASIC, he started out as a journalist before entering politics in 2005. He has held several positions as communications advisor to leading political figures, including in the Prime Minister's office. Re-elected as a Member of Parliament in 2018 and 2024, he was reappointed Minister of Communication and Media and Government Spokesman in May 2024.